

BILL RINGS FOR HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH

Universalists Observe Their Centennial with Banquet, Service and Special Meetings.

Supper Precedes Orthodox Church Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Orthodox Congregational church was held Friday, January 17th, preceded by a supper served in the church vestry under the direction of the Bradshaw-Friendly Union.

The business meeting was presided over by Moderator Earl S. Lewis. The gavel used was one that had been presented to the late Henry A. Kidder, who for a long period of years held the office of moderator.

The reports submitted showed a satisfactory year's work in all departments. The retiring president of the Bradshaw-Friendly Union, Mrs. Lester C. Shirley, presented the church in behalf of the Union a check for one thousand dollars. Another check of one thousand dollars was given by the Men's Club connected with the church through its president, Dr. Ralph Lancaster. These checks will be used to reduce the mortgage on the church property.

The report of the preliminary committee appointed by the mod-

A gathering of parishioners which filled the vestry of the First Universalist church last Saturday evening was deeply moved as the bell in the steeple rang while they stood in silence during the invocation by their pastor, the Rev. Robert M. Rice, at the start of a banquet celebrating the 100th anniversary of the church.

sary of the church. Some of those present had heard the bell of this church ring before the Civil War; others had traveled hundreds of miles in returning to their former church home for this notable occasion.

The banquet was one of several highly successful features in observance of the centennial. Tea was served Saturday afternoon during "open house" in the parish hall, under the direction of Edith N. Winn. The pourers were Mrs. Charles Dubig and Mrs. Howard Hawkins. Paula Pitko and Helen Nelson served refreshments to many visitors who examined with great interest a display of photographs, books, documents, programs and other memorabilia arranged by the centennial historian, Robert F. Needham. With beautiful new curtains at the windows and rugs on the floor, the hall had a very "homey" atmosphere.

As the banquet hour approached the hall became crowded with people who had come through the church auditorium where Mrs. Margaret Sandberger was playing the Farmer Memorial Organ. Assembling in the vestry for the banquet the guests heard lovely music from a trio composed of Dorothy Churchill, of Melrose, violinist; Mrs. Eleanor Schloesser, cellist, and Mrs. Ralph Churchill, pianist. Attractive decorations suited to the spirit of the occasion had been arranged by Barbara Llewellyn. Most conspicuous were beautiful Paisley shawls artistically draped on wall spaces upon which were festooned the year

Physical Exercise Classes to Aid National Defense

THREE THOUSAND RAISED IN FIRST THREE DAYS OF DRIVE

Red Feathers Added to Headdress of Indian as Money Comes In.

The Community Fund drive for 1941 is in full swing throughout Arlington. Nearly $3000 of the $21,000 goal was reached in 3 days after the campaign got under way and 800 solicitors are bringing more funds in to headquarters constantly.

The well known Indian head, used by the Arlington Community Chest drives in recent years, is again on display in front of the Unitarian church in Arlington Center. Prescott W. Baston, well known local artist and sculptor, has repainted the sign and this year will add red feathers to the headdress as the Arlington quota reaches the top.

It is expected that the volume of gifts turned into headquarters by solicitors will increase this week-end as solicitors get more free time to make the rounds of every home in Arlington in their drive for funds to support 200 social agencies of Greater Boston.

Mrs. William A. Muller, chairman of the Arlington drive, urges that all residents of Arlington make solicitors welcome and give generously this year because of the great work done by the participating social agencies. She stressed again that Arlington agencies benefit from the fund as well as Boston agencies. The local agencies participating are: The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Visiting Nurses Association, Social Service League, Inc., St. James Branch of the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild, St. Vincent de Paul Society of St. Agnes parish, and the Arlington Boys Club.

Prize for Best Results

Considerable rivalry has arisen among the district leaders who are urging their workers to be the first to complete the various sections and to turn in the largest total amount for the Community Fund. At a recent meeting private wagers were being made between some of the chairmen as to which division would be the first to finish its job and Mrs. Muller has offered a prize to the district leader getting the best results. The prize is to be kept secret until the drive is over.

Headquarters for the Community Fund in Arlington are at 677 Massachusetts avenue and are open from 10 to 5 and 7 to 10 each day. A large volunteer staff is on duty to aid solicitors with their problems and to answer any questions citizens may have about the drive and the good work done throughout greater Boston with the funds. Mrs. Muller has urged that every solicitor complete his district as soon as possible so that Arlington may make every effort to reach its quota before the deadline. "The job depends on the individual effort of every solicitor," Mrs. Muller said.

Dadmun Appointed To Draft Board

Harrie H. Dadmun of 56 Robbins road has been appointed a member of Draft Board Five, which has charge of Precincts Eight to Fourteen. His appointment completes the membership of the board. Mr. Dadmun is a former chairman of the School Committee, a commissioner of the Sinking Fund and trustee of several town funds. He is in the investment business in Boston.

The chairman of Board Five, whose headquarters are at the Park Circle Station, is Albert W. Wundler and the secretary, Clifford W. Cook. The other members are Harold Cahalin and George Minot.

School Attendance Shows Grippe Decreasing

The increase in attendance in Arlington schools during the past week shows that grippe is on the wane, at least among the school children. Though there have been many absent since the beginning of the epidemic, at no time has the disease been so prevalent as to warrant the closing of the schools in the opinion of the Board of Health and Dr. Ezekiel Pratt, school physician.

ENTERTAINMENT REWARDS INTREPID THEATRE-GOERS

Friends of Drama One-Act Presentations Worth Braving Weather and Flu.

By Elaine Cunningham Goodell

Those intrepid theatre-goers who, impervious to "flu" and weather, attended the Friday or Saturday night performance at the Playhouse on Academy street, were certainly rewarded by an evening of diversified entertainment.

Once again the one-act play has justified itself as a dramatic medium. And, judging by audience reaction, the three vehicles offered by the Friends of the Drama were highly satisfactory.

The evening opened with a play by Essex Dane titled "The Other Side of a Door." It was very beautifully played by Lorraine Miller as "Clare Sordennes" and Dorothy Ring as her friend, "Pania Thurbey", under the direction of Myrdred Trempl. The play itself is very slight and any criticism would be of the writing, not of the performance.

The mounting apprehension of two women alone in a country house as they realize that someone has broken in, was excellently portrayed. Mrs. Dane was perhaps a bit over-enthusiased about the element of suspense, but she finally gets a rescuer

Sunday night the two officers brought to the station a Chevrolet sedan which had been reported stolen from Lynn. It was returned to the owner and the operator was turned over to the Lynn police.

To Repeat Farce "Winning Winnie"

By popular request, the young people of the Park Avenue Congregational church will repeat the play, "Winning Winnie", in which they recently scored such a hit.

This is a three-act farce which keeps the audience in an uproar from beginning to end. Winnie Weston (Ruth Davis) continues a correspondence with three members of the "Jolly Bachelors' Club" when her sister, Wanda, (Dorothy Crocker) breaks her wrist. The three men, Romney Romaine, the poet, (George Riedel), Pete Parker, (Harry Hansen), and Texas Tripp, (Clifford Boyd) fall in love with Winnie, and arrive unexpectedly. Much excitement ensues as Winnie tries to keep Bob, her fiance, (Chester Rubner) from discovering them. Finally, Ethel, the secretary, (Marlyn Pierce), Flora, the cook, (Virginia Maxwell), and Tillie, the maid, (Alberta Diamond) fall in love with the men, and the minister, Rev. Darling, (Stewart Bennett) arrives to seal the bonds.

The play is under the direction of the youth director, Miss Phyllis Gates. Dancing will follow until 1:00 a. m.

Needham Tells Story Of Universalist Church

In connection with the centennial of the First Universalist church, Robert F. Needham has written and published "The Arlington Universalists and Their Church. A Brief History of the First Universalist Society of Arlington, Massachusetts, from its Informal Beginnings to the Year, 1941."

The pamphlet, attractively bound in silver with blue lettering, has as its frontispiece, an excellent picture of the church as it is today. Other illustrations are a sketch by William Proctor of the church as it was from 1841 to 1860, a floor plan of the church at its dedication, January 20, 1841, a sketch of the interior by Mr. Proctor as it was about 1860, exterior views showing the church with its spire and the spire after the 1938 hurricane, as well as pictures of some of the ministers who have served the church.

Mr. Needham gives the historical background and tells interestingly the story of the organization of the church, of its growth through the years and of the evolution of the building. There is a brief sketch of each of the ministers from Josiah Crosby Waldo, 1841-1847, to the incumbent, Rev. Robert M. Rice.

"Vignettes of Parish History" contains such interesting bits as: "In 1843, the sexton's job was put up at auction to the lowest bidder and was knocked off to Thomas Thorp for $40—for a year's work. The next year Jesse Pattee underbid him by $2.00."

Histories of the Sunday School and of the various organizations connected with the church are included.

Arlington's Best Beloved Player

The second play of the evening was "The Purple Doorknob" by Walter Pritchard Eaton, which brought the best beloved of Arlington's players back to the footlights. We are speaking, of course, of Mrs. George Tewksbury! The action was held up for several minutes during the ovation when the audience spied "Tewkie" as the curtains opened. Audiences at the "Friends" can well afford to applaud this actress before the play starts, knowing that she will always give a grand performance. She can add her characterization of the irascible invalid, "Mrs. Bartholomew" to her long list of successes.

Peggy McGinn, who is a newcomer to the Arlington boards, gave a fine interpretation of the young actress, "Viola Cole", who tries to buy the purple doorknob and has to pay for it with a command performance. Watch this girl! (It shouldn't be hard to do—she's that easy on the eyes!) Anyone who can hold her own on the same stage with Mrs. Tewksbury's acting ability has to be good. Because, regardless of whether Tewkie is eighteen or eighty or eight hundred, she is an actress with a capital A.

Eunice Nelson was the unimaginative "Amanda Dunbar," Mrs. Bartholomew's devoted, though dour, servant, and a very nice job she did too!

This was also Trempf-directed: "And Templed Hills"

The final play of the evening was "And Templed Hills" by Parker "Two-Gun" Wood, adapted from a story by Paul Gallico which appeared in a recent issue of Cosmopolitan. If anyone in the audience didn't like the play let him argue with Mr. Gallico! Parker certainly did a wonderful piece of work in dramatizing the story and, if that sounds like a simple task, just try it sometime!

It is not a pretty play. Perhaps it isn't in good taste to slap sensitive international relations in the face, but when Mr. Gallico has something to say he doesn't worry about hurting someone's feelings, and Parker Wood is ready, willing, and able, to back him up.

Dick Robinson was at his best as "Joe Smith, American," whose integrity is a greater thing than himself. The first scene, at the breakfast table, gave us an ordinary fellow, self-made, cocksure of himself, with the conviction that any "American" can lick any three other fellows with one hand. When he is abducted by "fifth Columnists" he finds out differently.

Torture Scene Too Much

The torture scene proved a bit too much for some of the audience. Several people had to leave—(quite a tribute to the cast's ability) and the majority of those who remained gave way to nervous chatter amongst themselves which made Mr. Robinson's monologue speeches almost inaudible at times. However, it was probably less distracting to have the talking than if they had kept still and fainted.

Due to Norman Watt's illness, the part of "Captain Zimmer" was played by the author. Bernard Edmark, another new member, was "Prof. Pfeiffer." Joseph Hoar was "Bosch," a member of the German-American Bund; "Handelman" was played by Paul White, Jr.; and Dow Pickering, despite a severe cold, was a satisfactorily sadistic "Engle." The above group did such a thorough-going job as nasty Nazis that they were booed long and loud at curtain-call,—much to Mr. Wood's delight.

Frances Marble was very good as Joe's wife "Mabel." Joan Wallace and Jack Ring were most convincing in the respective parts of "Agnes" and "Jimmy," their children. These young members of the cast display a poise and unaffected stage manner which might well be copied by players of long standing. Dave Kennedy was fine in the small part of Policeman "O'Hara." May I, with Dave, be "takin' off me hat" to these three casts, who carried on in spite of illness which hit almost every one of them, and gave us a group of productions which were right up to the mark.

Fine cooperation on the part of the stage crew was necessary for making one set versatile enough for five scenes, all of which were effective.

Orchids to Haywood Houghton for the excellent sound effects.

A big shiny star for well timed stage effects in "And Templed Hills."

If I hadn't known better I would have thought that a real bullet hit Dick in the second scene—he bled so realistically!

Anne Kennedy, as always, did the make-ups. It is redundant to mention that they were good!

Mrs. Tewksbury had to do all her rehearsing in bed while suffering from an attack of grippe so that the role of invalid was very convenient this time. But, will the program chairman make a note for next year, "Tewkie" would like a part with more action. No more of this lying in bed, please!

And credit—plenty of it—goes to the following committees:

Stage—Warner Clifford, Haywood Houghton, Marion Houghton, Robert Wasson, Bernadette Rowland, Parker Wood and Eleanor Mansfield.

Properties—Dorothy Pinkham, Beatrice Ring, Laura Sampson, Marion Anderson and Alice Frederick.

Hosts and Hostesses—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clifford, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Elwyn MacEwen.

Ushers—Florence Llewellyn, Helen Bowlby, Christine Cartmel, and Lillian Cahoon.

Candy Jean Kerr, Constance Van Norman, Mabel Gunning, and Ethel Campbell.

Extracts from Second Thoughts of Last Nighter

Madame X, on whose trail Friends of the Drama members have been baying ever since the Advocate printed her (?) criticism of "You Can't Take It With You," has again ventured into the field of dramatic criticism. This criticism arrived later than the Goodell review so only extracts from it can be used. This is unfortunate since Madame X is in a genial mood and has only praise for actors, directors and committees. Her only "crack" is at the audience.)

The trio of one-act plays served up by the Friends of the Drama on Friday and Saturday last were rather like a heady cocktail invoking variously stimulating responses among the audience. There were those who loved it, and a few who had a little more than they could handle in the more gruesome episodes, and quickly and quietly passed from the scene while they were still able. Yes, a nurse or two in the audience might have been a wise precaution during the P. Wood Production, if not at the very start during the "Other Side of the Door", which sent creepy little chills crawling up my spine. One can even imagine the usefulness of a nurse in caring for dear Tewkey so convincingly invalidated on stage in "The Purple Door Knob."

Incidentally, it would be the greatest joy of my life to see Parker Wood in the title role of "Life With Father" in some dim distant future at the Friends of the Drama. If ever there was a role tailored to fit that young man, this is it. Even his hair is the right color, aided and abetted by a quizzical eyebrow.

If it didn't warm the cockles of your heart to see Mrs. George Tewksbury sitting up in bed, Queen Tewky, ruling the world with paper crown and hair brush sceptre, I don't know what would. Isn't it a thrill to discover that perhaps, after all, life really does begin at forty? Tewky's stamina and vitality ought to be an inspiration to us lesser mortals.

It was a thrill, too, to greet new faces on the stage, proving the vitality of our organization. For only by assimilation of new blood and ideas may an organization retain its vigor and keep from suffering from ingrowing pains, and a rotation of different, not necessarily new, faces on its stage insures its fertility just as rotation of crops insures the fertility of the soil.

Is it out of place to suggest here that people who leave their seats between acts try to return to them before the curtain rises? At one of the performances much of the action was lost by late stragglers to their seats, and the ensuing commotion must have been disturbing to the players on the stage as it was to some of the audience.

Trucking Companies Urge Action by Commission

A group of 2,000 trucking companies have urged action by the National Defense Advisory Commission to relieve them of alleged discriminatory practices of the War Department in its dealings with transportation agencies.

The complaint, filed by the Household Goods Carriers Bureau, national representative of the companies, flatly charged discrimination against van operators engaged in transportation of household belongings and personal effects of War Department personnel.

These carriers, the Bureau said in a letter to Ralph Budd, transportation representative on the Defense Commission, are required to submit competitive bids to obtain movements of household goods, while the railroads and motor carriers of general freight are given War Department freight at their regular published tariff rates.

The bid procedure, the Bureau declared, results in wasteful and unnecessary cost, unwarranted delays, uncertainty as to the responsibility of the carriers selected, and destructive competitive practices which threaten to prevent maintenance of the sound transportation system that is vital to national defense.

The Bureau explained that before they were placed under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, motor carriers were of doubtful common carrier status and the bid system was necessary, but enactment of the Federal Motor Carrier Act in 1935 rendered the bid system "obsolete."

Announces Bridge by St. Jerome's Altar Boys

The Altar Boys Society, now in its seventh year at St. Jerome's, will conduct its annual bridge and whist party in aid of the parish January 31. The pastor of St. Jerome's, the Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons, organized the altar boys' society shortly after he founded the parish six years ago last September, and has trained and directed the boys.

Each year a banquet is tendered the society by the pastor and this year's "spread" held in the committee room of the rectory, thrilled every one of the twenty youths. After the turkey dinner was consumed, speeches by Robert O'Brien and John Lyons, Jr., were followed by Robert Carey's dedicatory poem and instrumental and vocal solos by Henry and John Donigan, and Raymond Sweeney. Father Daniel Sullivan of Marcelline Academy favored the gathering with an hour's movie show when the pastor, Fr. Fitzgibbons, ended the evening's fun with the announcement of the bridge and whist party to be held in the Hardy School Hall, Lake street.

The first reading and tea of the Robbins Library of the season will be held in Library Hall at five in the afternoon on Friday, February second.

1940 Marks All-Time
High in Buick Sales

With its 1.1 per cent, or December received from its nation-wide dealer organization Buick Division of General Motors Corporation recently recorded the Calendar year, 1940, as its all-time high in sales volume, with 297,381 cars delivered at retail in the United States.

This was announced by W. F. Hufstader, General Sales Manager, who said that the year closed as it began with sales running substantially ahead of previous records and a continued strong trend in the retail market.

Sales during the third 10-day period in December were 9,716 compared with 8,777 for the corresponding period last year, a gain of 7.4 per cent, he said. Deliveries for the month of December totaled 28,959, against 25,456 in December a year ago, for a gain of 13.8 per cent.

For the year as a whole, Buick's deliveries of 297,381 cars compared with 240,054 in 1936, the highest previous year, and with 222,312 in 1939, a gain of 33.8 per cent.

Mr. Hufstader said that the increased 1940 volume over 1939 came from all sections of the country, with the East, Central and Pacific sections showing the greatest gains. These were reported as follows: East, 35.5 per cent increase; central, 35.5 per cent; Midwest, 29.6 per cent; South, 27.7 per cent; Pacific, 40.3 per cent.

The record 1940 volume was sold by 2,890 dealers for an average of 103 sales per dealer, considered to be the highest average in the industry. This compared with 78 sales per dealer in 1939.

Commenting on Buick's improved position, Mr. Hufstader said: "Buick's strong position is shown by the fact that for the first 11 months of 1940 (latest available registration figures) 20.5 per cent of all cars sold above the three lowest priced makes were Buicks, while for the same period Buick attained its highest percentage of total new car registrations with 8.7 per cent of the industry's sales.

Since the introduction of the 1941 models this make has increased its position still further with 24.6 per cent of all sales above the lowest priced makes and 10.9 per cent of the entire industry."

city shortly after he founded the parish six years ago last September, and has trained and directed the boys.

Each year a banquet is tendered the society by the pastor and this year's "spread" held in the committee room of the rectory, thrilled every one of the twenty youths. After the turkey dinner was consumed, speeches by Robert O'Brien and John Lyons, Jr., were followed by Robert Carey's dedicatory poem and instrumental and vocal solos by Henry and John Donigan, and Raymond Sweeney. Father Daniel Sullivan of Marcelline Academy favored the gathering with an hour's movie show when the pastor, Fr. Fitzgibbons, ended the evening's fun with the announcement of the bridge and whist party to be held in the Hardy School Hall, Lake street.

The first reading and tea of the Robbins Library of the season will be held in Library Hall at five in the afternoon on Friday, February second.

spending period last year, a gain of 7.4 per cent, he said. Deliveries for the month of December totaled 28,959, against 25,456 in December a year ago, for a gain of 13.8 per cent.

For the year as a whole, Buick's deliveries of 297,381 cars compared with 240,054 in 1936, the highest previous year, and with 222,312 in 1939, a gain of 33.8 per cent.

Mr. Hufstader said that the increased 1940 volume over 1939 came from all sections of the country, with the East, Central and Pacific sections showing the greatest gains. These were reported as follows: East, 35.5 per cent increase; central, 35.5 per cent; Midwest, 29.6 per cent; South, 27.7 per cent; Pacific, 40.3 per cent.

The record 1940 volume was sold by 2,890 dealers for an average of 103 sales per dealer, considered to be the highest average in the industry. This compared with 78 sales per dealer in 1939.

Commenting on Buick's improved position, Mr. Hufstader said: "Buick's strong position is shown by the fact that for the first 11 months of 1940 (latest available registration figures) 20.5 per cent of all cars sold above the three lowest priced makes were Buicks, while for the same period Buick attained its highest percentage of total new car registrations with 8.7 per cent of the industry's sales.

Since the introduction of the 1941 models this make has increased its position still further with 24.6 per cent of all sales above the lowest priced makes and 10.9 per cent of the entire industry."

"HOLLYWOOD under OBSERVATION"

George Bancroft and Gary Cooper
in DeMille's "Northwest Mounted Police."

By Joseph Hoar

Madeleine Carroll Also Appears in Mountie Epic

Flamboyant Hollywood showman, Paramount Producer-Director Cecil Blount DeMille who, until his Lux broadcasts was simply another director name, has prepared for the screen a color movie entitled "Northwest Mounted Police." This movie is to be presented, intact and for the regular admission price, at the University Theatre for four days starting Sunday.

For stars in Mr. DeMille's first technicolor spectacle of Canada, he has corralled a cast, the like of which has never been seen since the days of "Show of Shows" and "Grand Hotel."

Gary Cooper, "The Westerner", has the top spot, the enviable role of a Texas Ranger who dares to get his face smuttled in a sea of saddled red-coated flatfeet. Opposite him is beautiful shouldered Madeleine Carroll whose Red Cross work is interfering with the quality of her acting. Chief supporting player is "The Perfect Form," Mrs. Charlie Chaplin III, more commonly known as Paulette Goddard of "Second Chorus." Preston Foster and Robert Preston, both of "Moon Over Burma," forget Dorothy Lamour to chase La Goddard.

That is not all, by any manner of means. The great, the distinguished Mr. Akim Tamiroff whose mere presence in his cast makes Director DeMille breath easier, assumes one of the chief supporting roles and with him is his co-killer of "Union Pacific," Lynne Overman. George Bancroft is the villain of the piece and in strange half-breed make-up and dialect the six foot, three inch Mr. Bancroft commences a strange new career of character acting. The son of a great silent star, Lon Chaney, Jr., appears also. Walter Hampden, eloquent stager, is the last in the "Ten Star Show" of Cecil D. M., which is nothing but a great three ring circus, painted in broad sweeping strokes on a flaming silver screen with little or no plot but much gusto and entertainment.

"Night Train," Best Film of 1940, for Thursday

A sleeper is a film that sneaks out upon the public quite unexpectedly and wows them. Such a film is the unpretentious Britisher, "Night Train," which starts Thursday at the University as a second feature to the more politic and conventionally billed "Third Finger, Left Hand."

Margaret Lockwood of "The Lady Vanishes," the American-made "Rulers of the Sea" and "Suzanne of the Mounties," assumes the lead in "Night Train," having opposite her the actor who appeared in Vivien Leigh's "Storm in a Teacup" (in her case the "Storm" came before the "Wind"), Rex Harrison.

If you want suspense, action and fresh foreign stars, see "Night Train," the most daring of all the present anti-Nazi films of which there have been too many.

Miss Loy's film on same bill.

Myrna Loy and Melvyn Douglas join personalities to give lift to an original and frothy comedy, the idea of which came into the author's mind as he sat atop a Fifth Avenue bus and listened to the unsuppressed prattlings of an enamored female incessantly admiring her engagement ring.

Douglas, the man who made Garbo laugh, engages himself with having fun with Myrna Loy. And, if Mr. Powell must be absent from Miss Loy, there is no more suitable substitute than the suave Mr. Douglas.

"The Invisible Woman"

John Barrymore, who once played terror people like "Doctor

Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and who mercilessly kidded the horror film with Orson Welles last week, appears as an aged professor who makes a woman invisible in the new Universal fun-horror-drama, "The Invisible Woman," with Virginia Bruce.

HOW ARLINGTON BENEFITS

Solicitors are ringing Arlington doorbells this week, asking for contributions to the Boston Community Fund. In their turn, many of the householders are asking why they, citizens of Arlington, should give to a Boston fund.

There are many reasons, the solicitors can explain. First, there are the hospitals and clinics of Boston which are supported by the Fund and by which all of the residents of Greater Boston benefit. At little or no cost children have their eyes examined by the foremost oculists. The ablest psychiatrists treat nervous diseases for a similar small outlay. A visitor to any clinic on any morning will learn the number and variety of ills that are given the best available treatment at a cost infinitesimal in comparison to the benefits received.

It is the Community Fund that helps to make this possible.

There are benefits, however, that come closer home. In Arlington there are seven organizations that share in the Community Fund—all organizations that every citizen will recognize as deserving of support.

They are the Social Service League, the Arlington Visiting Nursing Association, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Arlington Boys' Club, the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild of St. James' church, and the St. Vincent de Paul Society of St. Agnes' church.

The Social Service League was formerly the Arlington Welfare Council. Under both its old and its new name it has worked to make happier the lives of the less fortunate in every part of town. It has seen to it that children went to school with whole clothes and warm clothing, that men and women out of work were clothed and fed and helped to get jobs, that there was shelter and heat and food for families down on their luck. For years it has deserved and has had the support of Arlington people. It is asking for that support now through the Boston Community Fund.

The Arlington Visiting Nursing Association has a long and an honorable record in the alleviation of suffering. Many families where there has been sickness have had their suffering lessened through its ministrations. Mothers of babies know the Association through the Baby Clinics. To it they owe their training in the care and feeding of their babies so that those babies grow up into strong and healthy children.

The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts help the schools and churches to develop citizens. The scouts have a good time but while they are having that good time they build healthy bodies and strong characters. And it is from the Boston Community Fund that the money for this important building project comes.

The members of the Arlington Boys' Club certainly have fun. There is always something doing in their clubhouse, and last summer there was always something doing in their playground. They are busy every minute, and so they are out of that mischief that "Satan finds for idle hands." Here too are desirable citizens in the making—and it is the Community Fund that is helping to make them.

Many a family in need has had its troubles alleviated by the St. James' Guild and the St. Vincent de Paul Society. The sympathy and the unobtrusive aid that the members of these organizations give have made them loved by many. And they, too, belong to the Boston Community Fund.

So remember when the solicitor for the Community Fund rings your doorbell that it is for these tried, familiar friends that he is asking your aid. When you give to the Fund you are giving to them.

Woman's Club Votes
Community Fund Gift

In the absence of Mrs. Fred U. Wyman, president, who was confined to her home by illness, the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Arlington Woman's Club, held in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, was presided over by Mrs. Grady D. Feagan, vice-president.

At the business meeting it was voted that one hundred and fifty dollars be subscribed to the Greater Boston Community Fund, whose drive is now under way.

Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton, chairman of the Education-Mothercraft committee, introduced Mrs. Beritta Harding, the speaker of the afternoon. Mrs. Harding, who was born of Hungarian ancestry with a title of Countess, is a musician, author, and a lecturer of rare charm and personality and is endowed with the happy faculty of being able to hold the complete attention of her listeners. The subject of Mrs. Harding's talk was "The Power Behind the Pen" in which she likened the pen to a double-edged sword with a tremendous force for both good and evil, as the written word is possessed of a magic all its own which exerts a great influence over mankind.

Mrs. Harding reviewed briefly the books she has already written—five in number, and explained that the source of her inspiration has been reality instead of imagination.

Her background, her family history, her travels, as well as her personal contacts and study, have provided her with material which proves, without question, that reality can be much more thrilling than fiction. Her ability to recognize the story possibilities interwoven in the Court life with which her family has long been associated, together with her capacity for storytelling, has made Mrs. Harding a literary sensation.

Hearings on the lend-lease bill continue.

From the A. P. we learn the legal points in aid to Britain:

1. The Johnson Act forbidding loans or credits to debtor nations: The act would not appear to be involved because it does not apply to the United States Government or a public corporation.
2. The Neutrality Act of 1939: Section 7, prohibiting extension of loans or credits to a belligerent government, does not apply to this Government but does apply to such a corporation as the Export-Import Bank. "In any event," Mr. Hull said, "the prohibition would be superseded by the new act in so far as transactions by this Government are concerned."
3. United States Code, title 18: Three provisions would be superseded—(A) making it unlawful to fit out or arm in the United States a vessel with intent that it shall be used in the service of a foreign belligerent against a power with which the United States is at peace; (B) prohibiting increase or augmentation in our ports of a warship or other armed vessel belonging to a belligerent power; (C) prohibiting, during a war in which the United States is neutral, the sending out of United States jurisdiction any vessel built, armed or equipped as a vessel of war for delivery to a belligerent.
4. The Hague Convention of 1907, forbidding a neutral to supply a belligerent warship with ammunition or war material and prohibiting use of neutral ports for other than mandatory repairs: Mr. Hull said the convention is not involved because it provides that it shall not apply unless all belligerents are parties to it.

Verne Marshall, chairman of the committee "No Foreign War," seems careless in listing prominent persons as members of his board. Denials come from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Mayor Frank Hahn and the author, Clarence Buddington Kelland.

London hears that night bombing is being successfully met.

Hearings on the lend-lease bill continue.

From the A. P. we learn the legal points in aid to Britain:

1. The Johnson Act forbidding loans or credits to debtor nations: The act would not appear to be involved because it does not apply to the United States Government or a public corporation.

2. The Neutrality Act of 1939: Section 7, prohibiting extension of loans or credits to a belligerent government, does not apply to this Government but does apply to such a corporation as the Export-Import Bank. "In any event," Mr. Hull said, "the prohibition would be superseded by the new act in so far as transactions by this Government are concerned."

3. United States Code, title 18: Three provisions would be superseded—(A) making it unlawful to fit out or arm in the United States a vessel with intent that it shall be used in the service of a foreign belligerent against a power with which the United States is at peace; (B) prohibiting increase or augmentation in our ports of a warship or other armed vessel belonging to a belligerent power; (C) prohibiting, during a war in which the United States is neutral, the sending out of United States jurisdiction any vessel built, armed or equipped as a vessel of war for delivery to a belligerent.

4. The Hague Convention of 1907, forbidding a neutral to supply a belligerent warship with ammunition or war material and prohibiting use of neutral ports for other than mandatory repairs: Mr. Hull said the convention is not involved because it provides that it shall not apply unless all belligerents are parties to it.

Broke Down.—As Herbert Pattee, with T. M. Hutchinson, was going to West Medford Wednesday afternoon to carry the "Guess Cake" to its lucky winner, Mr. R. K. Carpenter, the hind axle of the buggy broke and dumped the party. With the aid of Mr. Ober's grocery wagon, the team was brought back and left with Hill & Gott for repairs. The cake weighed 26 lbs. 6 oz.

New Episcopal Society.—Last Wednesday evening, those of our citizens who are interested in forming an Episcopal society in town, with several others residing in adjoining towns, met in Menotomy Hall, and effected a legal organization, under the name of "St. John's Episcopal Society of Arlington."

Mr. Allen, one of our most venerable citizens, informs us that Wednesday, when the thermometer stood way up in the thirties, was the sixty-sixth anniversary of the "Cold Friday" mentioned for so many years in the almanacs and other places. The day previous the farmers were ploughing the land.

The unusually high wind which prevailed last Thursday afternoon, blew down the danger signal at the railroad crossing on Water street.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

The New England Association of California Pioneers held their annual dinner at the Revere House, in Boston, last Saturday, the same proving a happy reunion of the old forty-niners. Among the guests was Mr. Henry L. Lawrence, with his wife and other members of his family, and Mr. Leonard A. Saville, town clerk of Lexington. Mr. Wm. Whytal, grocer, and Hon. Henry J. Wells, formerly of Arlington, are also members of the association.

The storm of yesterday tied up the electric motors, at early evening the sound of horses' hoofs were again heard rattling on the pavement between the tracks.

Arlington Heights S. T. Club held their fifth anniversary and supper at Union Hall, at the Heights, on the evening of January 15th and the affair was a complete social success. The supper was followed by speaking, singing, etc., and a beautiful basket of flowers was presented to Mrs. Nellie M. Farmer, who for five years has served the society as president, and now retires.

Selectman James P. Donnelly, vice-president of the Arlington Associates, presided at the second annual banquet and meeting of that body at the American House, Boston, on Wednesday evening. James

M. Mead, one of the Arlington assessors, was the principal speaker. The officers elected were: President, John A. Bishop; vice-president, James P. Donnelly; treasurer, Daniel F. Ahern; secretary, Frank F. Louder; trustee for three years, M. J. Gallagher.

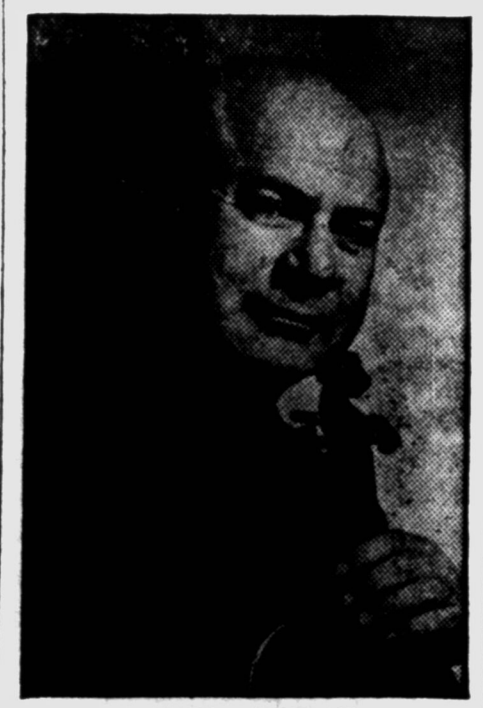

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Patterson are expected home this week from their wedding trip of three weeks. The couple have been in Virginia and North Carolina, having gone south by way of steamer to Norfolk, Virginia.

Sunday last was a gala day on Spy Pond. Several thousands of skaters enjoyed the sport. These included residents of the town, also visitors from most of the surrounding towns and cities.

Tells Heights Baptists Of Work with Refugees

The Missionary meeting of the Arlington Heights Baptist church had for its special speaker on Tuesday the Rev. Frederick Aston, Superintendent of the New York Jewish Evangelization Society of New York City. Mr. Aston spoke of the thrilling experiences of his organization in caring for European refugees and their rehabilitation on this side of the Atlantic. Mrs. B. J. Gott, president, was in charge of the meeting, with Mrs. B. E. Prest and Mrs. B. C. Cameron assisting with the devotional service.

South Dakota Bishop To Speak in St. John's

The Rt. Rev. W. Blair Roberts, D.D., Bishop of South Dakota, will speak twice in St. John's church, Pleasant street, next Monday, the 27th, at 3 p. m. to the women, and at 8 p. m. to men and to those women who cannot attend in the afternoon. Bishop Roberts is a graduate of Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Conn., where he was a schoolmate of Rev. Charles Taber Hall, the rector of St. John's church.

The bishop's entire ministry has been spent in South Dakota, a state rolling over the prairies from its green fertility in the east to the buttes and formidable Bad Lands in the west, where there is intense heat in the summer and extreme cold in winter, where travelling conditions often are hard and even dangerous. Bishop Roberts has a double constituency: whites and Sioux Indians, the latter nearly 100% Episcopalians and outstanding in their devotion and self-sacrifice for their church. Bishop Roberts should have an interesting story to relate. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested to attend either of these meetings.

Evening Alliance Hears Talk on Sam Walter Foss

The Evening Alliance of the First Parish church held the first meeting of the new year last week Wednesday, with Mrs. W. G. Porter, the president, presiding. The theme for 1941 is one of prayer and hope for peace and a happier outlook for the future.

Miss Janet Brown played beautifully on the violin, "The Recessional" by De Koven, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Melody in F" by Rubenstein. Her tone was sweet and smooth and gave great promise for future accomplishment.

Rev. George Butters and his wife were special guests, and Mr. Butters gave a unique and charming portrayal of "The Life and Poetry of Sam Walter Foss." By vivid bits of poetry taken here and there from volumes of Foss' works he drew a picture of a fine, thoughtful, homespun man who although a Phi Beta Kappa honor graduate of Brown University, lived and wrote in the style of the common man. His humor and sensitive understanding made Sam Walter Foss seem to be a friend of ours just as he wanted "to live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Delicious and unusual refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Schwamb and the hospitality committee.

TO DEDICATE NEW PIPE ORGAN AT HEIGHTS BAPTIST

Rev. Ralph F. Palmer, Professor of Old Testament and Philosophy at Gordon College, Boston, and former pastor of the church. This will be followed by an organ recital by Mrs. E. L. Reed, organist of the church, who will include among her selections Brahms' "Lullaby" and "The Lost Chord." Rev. Walter E. Bridge will preach an appropriate sermon on the subject, "The Master Musician."

The successful completion of this worthy project has been made possible by the splendid spirit of cooperation of the members and friends of the congregation. Those serving on the organ committee with Mrs. Brine were Mrs. T. L. Woodworth, D. L. Forbes, L. W. Richardson and Rev. Walter E. Bridge. The Wicks Organ Company of Highland, Ill., supervised its installation during the past week.

"Meet Young China" At First Baptist Church

A unique auditorium program will take place at the First Baptist church on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Grace Boynton will deliver her very unusual talk on "Meet Young China." Miss Boynton is a real specialist on Chinese conditions, having travelled extensively from one end of China to the other over a period of twenty-two years. Large Boston groups who have heard her pronounce her grasp of China as "truly magnificent." She comes to Arlington from the American Board of Foreign Missions. She is the granddaughter of Nehemiah Boynton, famous in the annals of religious New England. In addition to her travels, she has gathered a wealth of material as teacher at Yenching University.

Previous to her address, Peter Ting, of Harvard, will entertain with Chinese music on the flute. A motion picture on the present conditions of China will also enhance the program. The public is invited. Mrs. R. L. Bolton and Mrs. Matthew Dickie have been active in arranging this outstanding program. The pastor will preside.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, January 26, on the subject: "Truth."

The Golden Text will be: "Thou art near, O Lord; and all thy commandments are truth. Concerning thy testimonies, I have known of old that thou hast founded them for ever" (Psalms 119: 151, 152).

Bible selections will include the following passage from Matthew 6:24: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

One of the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included in the Lesson-Sermon reads as follows: "The best sermon ever preached is Truth practised and demonstrated by the destruction of sin, sickness, and death. Knowing this and knowing too that one affection would be supreme in us and take the lead in our lives, Jesus said, 'No man can serve two masters'" (p. 201).

Women's Fellowship Holds Poverty Party

The January meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the First Baptist church was held last Monday evening and took the form of a "Poverty Party."

A brief business meeting had followed the Lord's Prayer, offered in unison by the entire group, and short concise reports given by various committee chairmen.

The meeting was then given over to fun and hilarity. Members had come dressed in all degrees of "poverty"; there were hoboes, overall girls, Tomboys, potato-sack and sugar bag dresses, old gingham torn and patched, gay ninety feathers, and torn and tattered sweaters, coats that had seen much better days, hats that Huckleberry Finn might scorn.

The chorus of the Fellowship rendered selections, headed by a round of "Merrily Merrily We Row Up the Stream."

Stunts were required of those who in the opinion of the Investigating Committee were not quite properly attired for a "Poverty Party." These proved to be laughter-provoking. Among the stunts was a blueberry-pie-eating contest, which furnished much amusement for the keenly interested audience.

After a parade to show the variety and originality of costumes, the hostesses served refreshments in keeping with the idea of the party.

SUPPER PRECEDES ORTHODOX CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING

erator last year for the purpose of drawing up plans for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the church, which will occur, in 1942, was presented in printed form at this time and was read by its chairman, Mrs. George B. C. Rugg, who is historian of the church. The other members of the committee were Gilford D. Brown, Mrs. William K. Cook, Charles M. MacMillin, Miss Grace Parker, who acted as secretary for the committee, and Rev. Laurence L. Barber, ex-officio. This report outlined a week's activities, beginning Sunday, June 7, 1942, and continuing through to June 14th. This committee having completed the work for which it was appointed, asked to be discharged, and recommended that a general committee for the Centennial be appointed by the moderator. Later in the evening it was voted that this committee continue to serve and that it be enlarged by the moderator.

The prudential committee presented its report through its chairman, Chester Whitman. This showed that many improvements on the church property had been accomplished, especially in the parish house and in the main vestry of the church.

The officers elected to serve the coming year, together with committees, follow:

vice, and also to those over the draft age who are planning to serve their country if necessary, by serving in one of the Home Guard units now being organized throughout the country.

It is the belief of Mr. Collins that a preliminary course in light physical training will help lighten the task and increase the efficiency of those who are later called or volunteer for regular more strenuous service.

The course will consist of a short intensive period of calisthenics followed by ball passing, shadow boxing and rope skipping. For the present the classes will be held on Wednesday evening only, at the High School gymnasium and will not interfere with the regular recreation program of the project at the Junior High East, Junior High West and the Boys' Club.

BELL RINGS FOR HUNDREDDTH ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH

numbers 1841 and 1941 cut from wood in "old English" style and gilded. Gilt streamers ran down the center of each table. On the middle of the head table was a gilded model of the church building set in a bank of flowers. There were many white candles with the number 100 in gold festooned around the base and setting in brass candlesticks. The orchestra sat amid palms loaned by courtesy of Geo. O. Anderson & Sons with a large Paisley shawl for a background bearing the year dates in old fashioned and modern type numbers.

Special Guests

At the close of a delicious dinner served by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, local caterers, David L. Peirce, chairman of the centennial committee and toastmaster, began the introduction of special guests. At the head table were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cummins, Rev. and Mrs. Robert Rice, Dr. and Mrs. William Wallace Rose, Rev. Charles T. Hall, Rev. Edward L. Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. Irving C. Tomlinson, Rev. Rubens R. Hadley, Rev. Francis W. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Estabrook. Also Mrs. Grady Feagan, Rev. John Nicol Mark, Rev. and Mrs. Laurence L. Barber, Rev. and Mrs. George Butters, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Stearns, Mrs. David Peirce, Virginia Dunlap and R. F. Needham.

Rev. Charles Taber Hall, dean of Arlington ministers, spoke a word on their behalf. The greetings of the civil government were brought by Harold M. Estabrook, chairman of the Selectmen; Dr. Robert Cummins brought the good wishes of the Universalist General Convention. Mr. Peirce read letters of greeting from Winslow Chase Sisson, clerk of the First Parish, and Albert Wunderly, clerk of the Orthodox Congregational Society. Other letters provoking appreciative applause came from Mrs. Anne Tyson of Detroit, formerly wife of the late Rev. Charles F.

Patterson, Mrs. Frank L. Masseeck of Santa Paula, Cal., widow of Rev. Frank L. Masseeck, Rev. Harry Fay Fister, now of Milford, Mass., and the Rev. William H. Gould, now of Turners Falls, Maine.

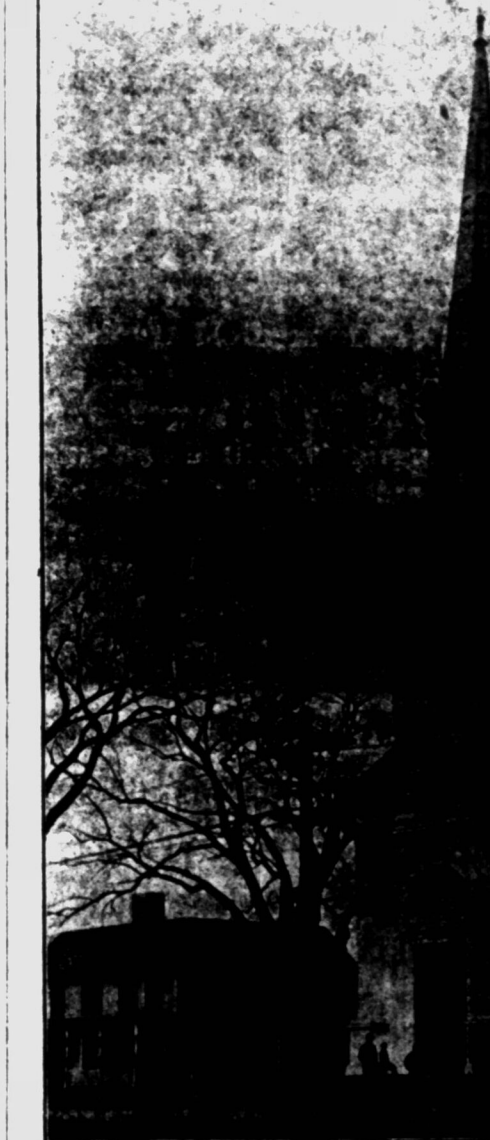

In introducing the Rev. Edward L. Houghton, pastor 1885-86, Mr. Peirce mentioned the notable parish reunion of November 20, 1885, that he promoted which had reinvigorated the church life at a critical time. Displaying unusual vigor for a man four score years, Mr. Houghton, now living in retirement at Huntington, N. Y., urged his fellow ministers to stress the spiritual needs of mankind.

Irving C. Tomlinson, pastor, 1889-93, now on the board of the Christian Science Church in Boston, spoke of the sinister forces working for the disintegration of the social order and pointed out that the remedy for present worldly ills lies in the basic principles of the Universalist faith.

Timelessness of Universalist Faith
The timelessness of the Universalist faith was mentioned by the Rev. R. R. Hadley, predecessor of Mr. Rice, who was accorded extended applause by his former parishioners. He is now the pastor of the Peabody Universalist church.

Raymond H. Stearns, president of the First Universalist Society, expressed official thanks to Lois Mead, Barbara Llewellyn, Edith Winn, Mrs. Marion Peirce, Mrs. Helen Wyman, Mrs. Charles Duhig, Mrs. Alice Jones, Virginia Dunlap of Framingham and R. F. Needham for their efforts in caring for certain details of the program.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Nearly the entire century of the church's history was spanned by the lives of two members present. Responding to the toastmaster's call Mrs. Addie L. Baker of Cambridge and Mrs. George L. Storer of this town, both born in 1852, stood up with the assembly applauding. Of less ancient but equally choice vintage were Mrs. Mary Winn, Rev. F. W. Gibbs, Fred Butterfield and Harry Peirce. Mrs. Winn, a very active church member at the age of 86, began her associations in 1881. Mr. Gibbs was born here while his father was pastor in Civil War days.

Stating that the spiritual forebears built this meeting-house as a noble and fitting expression of the worth of man in the sight of God, Dr. William Wallace Rose, pastor of the Lynn Universalist church, based the principal address of the evening upon three thoughts underlying the Universalist faith—the humanity of God, the divinity of man and the utility of religion as a way of life. A benediction by Mr. Gibbs brought the occasion to a close.

Service of Re-Dedication

Sunday morning a large congregation joined with the pastor in a solemn re-dedication of the century old house of worship, the oldest in Arlington. The service closed with the singing of a hymn written for the dedication January 20, 1841, by Mrs. Josiah Waldo containing thoughts entirely appropriate to the re-dedication of the edifice and the re-consecration of the worshippers. In addition to the choir there was special music by Mrs. Laura

The ushers were Ernest W. David, Herbert O. Dutcher, Arthur S. Harding and James F. Younie.

In a powerful sermon message, entitled "Bred in the Great Tradition," Dr. Robert Cummins stressed the fact that machines created by man in the past hundred years have run away with him. Men with control of giant forces, he said, "hold pigmy conceptions of ultimate destiny."

Assisting in the service were the Rev. Edward L. Houghton, Rev. Francis W. Gibbs, Dr. Frederic W. Perkins and Dr. John M. Ratcliff.

Brackett Fathers Hear Gilbert and Sullivan

The annual Fathers' Night of the Brackett Parent-Teacher Association was held on Tuesday evening. A delightful program was arranged by Edward W. Center. However, Mr. Center was unable to be present and Hugh Curry presented the program.

Those participating in the entertainment were Kathleen Howard, soprano; Kathleen Kilcoyne, mezzo-soprano; Walter Tibbets and Ernest Eames, baritones; Everett Glines, Jr., bass, and Donald Sullivan, tenor. Excerpts from a number of Gilbert & Sullivan operettas were gaily presented and heartily applauded by a large and appreciative audience.

MRS. TAYLOR REVIEWS WORLD EVENTS AT FIRST PARISH

and munitions as she fights on three fronts—transportation, production and invasion.

Hitler plans to assist the Axis partners hoping to beat England by bringing France and Spain into line. He hinted he means to have Italy.

The position of Ireland is precarious. The speaker thought England should make a trade agreement with Eire, rather than clamp down, further antagonizing the Irish.

The German planned anarchy in Rumania progresses. Referring to Petain as "the Queen Mother of France," Mrs. Taylor said strong German influence had caused the Queen to take back Laval, who would help Hitler in his effort to cause France to fight England.

Lifting the Russian embargo, a diplomatic move would in the speaker's opinion fail to work as the ten men in the four Axis groups were out for themselves and not for the good of the four countries involved. A discussion of Indo-China and the Dutch Indies brought out the wealth of these possessions and here again the race between England and the Axis to arrive first.

Mrs. Taylor regrets the discussion over the lend-lease bill, warning that France fell because of such divisions. She is "more afraid of division in the United States than invasion. The isolationists, the bunds, the fascists, the anti-British all play into Hitler's hands. She would have "the people" who gave President Roosevelt power give him now the power to execute it."

"The two most unpredictable men in the world today are Hitler and Roosevelt," said Mrs. Taylor. Within six months she sees Uncle Sam in an undeclared war—when either one of the above-mentioned men chooses to pick "the incident." Roosevelt, backed by all our power, means to have England win. Everything points to an early engagement with the enemies of freedom.

The property includes ten or twelve acres of land, a house, a barn and sheds. Its assessed valuation is $27,050. If it is taken by eminent domain the top price would be this valuation plus twenty-five per cent.

Members of the Association feel that it is important to secure this open space in a section which is being rapidly built up and which is badly in need of a play area. It is understood that a real estate developer has already made an offer for it which was not accepted. The house is now unoccupied.

Anyone who wishes to cooperate in the effort to secure this land for the town is asked to communicate with John P. Ackers, 36 Grandview road, clerk of the Tower Association.

The altar was decorated with gladiolas.

The bride's frock of white slipper satin was made with three quarter length sleeves and with it she wore white lace mits. She wore a Juliet cap of pearls to which her veil of finger tip length was caught. She carried a large bouquet of gardenias. Attending her as maid of honor was Miss Amy Marie Cameron of Somerville. Her frock was of aqua taffeta trimmed with wine velvet ribbon. With this she wore a large hat of the same material and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.
